

In my opinion, in the contemporary world, it is crystal clear that you cannot live without risk because of most facts and issues that we are facing are probabilistic and are depended on many factors. Regarding this importance, people should adapt themselves to these circumstances to be more comfortable and flexible in their social life. In addition, adjusting to the current situations of the world causes a lot of opportunities. I will explore the reasons why I feel this way in the following essay.

To commence, according to my experience, for improving and enhancing in this sophisticated community, it is a pivotal reason to take risk in routine life in order to catch much more opportunities. Owing to this fact, there is no certain rule to become a successful person in the society without taking risk because despite of putting effort into your career or job, you are doing the same thing as the past, and by doing this, you don't qualify enough to be successful.

Another noteworthy reason that cannot go unnoticed is that the personality of the successful people acquire to be creative, and they cannot accomplish the ordinary tasks for a long time. To clarify this concept, I need to be more specific. For instance, you would easily find a lot of stories about successful people's life that the most significant trait that they have is taking risk in difficult situations and making purposeful decisions in such situations.

Taking into account what was already mentioned, in my view, the more risk you take, the more achievement you gain. Hence, this is visibly clear that you will not get a higher circumstance in the community without taking risk. Furthermore, people should live in the way that what their soul need. I firmly believe that the humankind feel the need to perform something different from others for feeling the real satisfactory.
