Is reading fiction a waste of time? Why or why not? Explain your answer using specific reasons and examples to support your position.

In this writer's opinion, if you think that you'll waste your time by reading fiction and unreal stories, you ~~had~~ have ignored many aspects of human being~~s~~, such as imagination and dreaming. These two notable sides are more important than they might seem. Human flying is a case in point, as we all know it was an unbelievable story that came true many years ago and imagination was the first step of this achievement. Stories help us to improve our imaginations and to meet new goals, as we're now living in our ancestors' dreams. Fiction can ~~brought~~ bring us a fresher and more active imagination and further an innovative mind.

Fiction also helps us to understand ourselves and each other, ~~with~~ by telling many stories about other human thoughts and lives and bringing us into the inner world of its characters, so that we can see the world by their vision and understand others' situation/other situations. Stories can make the world a better place which means that we will be kinder and more understanding with the information ~~came~~ coming through them ~~and it~~which will influence the whole world.

To sum up, our life is not based on fiction, but it will be so attractive with it. Stories would be vital for a more colorful life and for being a nicer and more creative person.
