some people spend too much money on celebrating personal family events, such as weddings and birthdays. Do you think that it is important to celebrate such events? Do you think that people spend too much money on these celebrations ?

Celebrations have always been an inseparable part of any culture. Celebrating on various occasions such as weddings and birthdays play~~s~~ an important role~~s~~ in our lives because it b~~i~~rings family members ~~togather~~together. In my idea, the money individuals spend on special events ~~it~~ is important because it can ~~cause~~ help the relatives to have a strong relationship.

It is very essential to celebrate special events like birthdays and weddings. This is because celebrating helps all family gather ~~togather~~ together at a single place.It means that it is a time the entire family and even distant relatives spend time with each other.For instance, imagine a family's each of the members live in~~a~~ different cities, they can see each other by celebrating their birthdays almost several time~~s~~ ~~in~~a year. Ther~~e~~fore, celebrating such events is very significant in people's lives because it brings them ~~togather~~ together and ~~reunited~~ reunites them ~~again~~.

I think that the money that is ~~spend~~ spent on important events is not too much because it is worth it can ~~effect~~ affect ~~on~~ their relationship. for example, in my ~~coyntry~~country, Iran, people celebrate weddings in a big garden and spend too much money ~~on,~~ becauce they invite the whole family~~,~~. it is true that they spend money a lot on such occasions but relatives have a strong relationship. Thus, spend~~ing~~ too much on family occasions is necessary and it has its own benefits.

To conclude, after analyzing what has been elaborated above, celebrating is very important because it brings family bond~~s~~ ~~togather~~ together and spend~~ing~~ a lot of money on events ~~have~~ has a value~~,~~. it can ~~cause~~ lead~~they~~ ~~to~~ ~~have~~ having a warmer and stronger relationship.