

Universities should accept equal numbers of male and female students in every subject. To what extent do you agree or disagree

In the modern world people attempt to educate in some universities for getting knowledge and experiment for their future life but universities want to find more talent and creative students. Moreover, nowadays it is a widespread belief that while universities' admissions choose choosing students, they must keep kept in their mind preserving equity/equality equally between men and women. There are many arguments supporting both views, some one agree and the others disagree one not.

On one hand, it is obviously that in the past there was discrimination between women and men and men excelled women in all positions of society. Thereby women had difficulty for continuing education. For instance a last century in my country they could not receive education should not educate unless they were born and bred growing up in a special family, like king family. But now this problem has been solved and equality has been established in between women and men because of this giving fifty-fifty chance to both male and female students for getting higher education maybe useful and helpful for keeping fairness.

On the other hand, some say says men differ from women, in that men are more logical and women are more emotional, so some fields of courses can be more helpful for women in the future and conversely some of them are more suitable than for men due to common culture of society. For instance some fields and jobs like nursing, teaching and social work seems that they are appropriate for women and some fields of engineering what there are suitable/proper for job position in big factory could be fit for men like positions in factories.

In summation, I do believe that there are more beneficial outcomes in having an equal number of both male and female students in each subject matter in all academies in the globe.
