

Question: The widespread use of the internet has given people access to information on a level never experienced before. How does this increase in the availability of information influence life in today's world?

Life has been changed since technology helped people to access an absolutely vast variety of information. By using the Internet, most kinds of information are available for any literate person which can deeply influence ~~on~~ their lives from ~~in~~ different aspects.

Some years ago, it was like a dream to see your beloved ones who live far from you. Unbelievably now, it is possible to not only see their face and their movement on computer screen but also talk to them directly and hear their own voice at the same time. The Internet has made ~~makes~~ this dream ~~comes~~ true by sending and receiving visual and vocal information. Therefore, no one will feel lonely in their lives since by connecting to the Internet you are able to talk to anyone in the world. In order to improve ~~the~~ science (push back the frontiers of science), researchers faced lots of difficulty to access most up-to-date ~~d~~ data from old time. With/By improvement of technology, there are so/too many scientific sites which can help all researches to get the most upgraded data with ~~by~~ only a click. The other effect of getting information easily is making life fast (accelerate). Management in any subject will be faster and more practical. For instance, when you are going to manage a vacation, you are able to book your flight, pay for it, and choose not only your seat but also your lunch menu by using your own laptop and also in front of your own desk. Moreover, you can book your hotel room as well as buying historical sites entrance fee. As soon as you decide about anything, it will be possible. Sometimes in sickness, we need a doctor but he the doctor might not be ~~is not~~ accessible. Thus, we can search for our symptoms through the Internet and find proper available treatment or fast emergence solution and eliminate potential peril from the patient till we can ~~take~~ ing the patient to the doctor. In conclusion, the internet helps people all over the world live better every day than the other days. By using great amounts s of information through the Internet, life has found wider meaning of being alive anytime and anywhere. This wonderful influence indicates to people that anything can come true one day.