

Will modern technology, such as Internet ever replace the book or the written word as the main source of information?

There is no doubt that in near future with the high speed of technology progressing there are so many alterations in our lives and there will be a change in the nature base of our relations and criteria.

The worldwide system of computers networks which we called Internet make plays a big role in this issue, the Internet is considered as a great source of information and there are so many programs that are made to make people more comfortable for their daily tasks; now you can go to your university class, check your bank account and other affairs etc.

Certainly people who have ~~has a~~ limited time and widespread access to the internet very soon prefer to save their time and use the Internet for so many of their requests. As a result of high demand for amount refer to the Net the companies and the owners of data will plan to publish ~~establish~~ their work through the net.

On the other hand, side the important fact that ~~never~~ should never be forgotten ~~forget~~ is that there are so many instances of plagiarism and wrong information on the in Net, with the easy ways of publishing and copying the data there will be so much many wrong info and there is no certificate to which clarify the right ones though some data owners and companies try to establish their data through standard and clear ways.

As a solution for preventing these kinds of mistakes things we should never forget that besides every change that we are looking forward to in our lives we should keep the past and origin of items things.
