

Some students like to take distance-learning courses by computer other students prefer to study in traditional classroom settings with a teacher. Consider the advantages of both options and make an argument for the way that students organize their schedule.

There has not been a long time that the internet has become a necessity ~~in~~ everywhere. ~~With~~ ~~By~~ ~~the~~ wide spread~~ing~~ ~~of~~ the internet all over the world all aspects of social life from ~~the~~ simplest daily chores to the most time-consuming and demanding processes such as banking and booking have been totally changed. In fact distance-learning courses have been a valuable achievement of the Internet entering ~~the internet~~ in our life.

In online courses many limitations have been removed to amend it to a more inclusive program. moreover, not only do the learners choose their suitable and flexible time schedule for learning but also save their time which was supposed to ~~be spent~~ ~~in~~ commuting from home to schools or institutes. On the ~~othe~~ other hand, for learners who are forced to take up a job it really would be a wonderful opportunity to raise their educational levels with this new trend which might lead~~s~~ to job promotion after graduation.

By contrast, distance-learning courses intensify the disadvantage of recent sedentary-life and make it more passive, consequently many physical problems ~~are~~ likely to ~~be~~ emerged~~d~~ such as obesity and spine problems.~~in~~ In addition, it eliminates social interaction between students and teachers~~s~~ which is gradually ~~is~~ lowering the social abilities. Besides, some educationalists believe that in traditional methods students are obliged to study more seriously ~~which that~~ finally result~~ed~~ in a better understanding ~~of~~ the courses.

To sum up while distance learning ~~has~~ ~~have~~ precious benefits such as flexible time frame and time schedule which lead to ~~making~~ ~~make~~ the best use of time, it may cause both physical and social problems in ~~the~~ most students and lower~~ed~~ productivity of learning. I do believe distance learning is a new trend that could ~~be~~ help some learners who have time constraints/limitation because of their occupation or students who intend to learn two courses simultaneously which would not be possible unless ~~using~~ distance-learning is used, but in other cases I prefer traditional teaching which improves social manners~~s~~ and physical activity as well as information and knowledge.