

Many people believe that women make better parents than men and that is why they have the greater role in raising children in most societies. Others claim that men are just as good as women at parenting what are your opinions on this topic?

There ~~are is~~ obvious Differences between women's and men's attributes which ~~cannot can not~~ be ~~denied deniable~~. These inherent characteristics would give women specific abilities to perform particular tasks more effectively than their counterparts, one of which might be parenting.

Some believe that the exclusive qualities in women such as patience, sympathy and caring may make them ~~to be~~ better parents. They declare that raising children needs both physical and emotional attention. To put it simply, not only does it involve nurturing and caring, but also it is important to treat children properly. Ignorance is an apparent quality of every child that causes many problems which should be constrained by parents' guidance not just aggressive behaviors. This is the case that statistics have shown women superior in comparison with men. Furthermore, women have a better command of communicating which ~~is plays paly a~~ vital role in effective relationships.

On the other hand, some others believe that individual differences maybe more important than gender differences and some men could be as patient as the women or even more patient. In addition, they argue that some characteristics such as patience and ~~care caring~~ would not give all the necessary requirements for being good parents. Parenting requires ~~se~~ a wide variety of responsibilities and qualities more important than cited characteristics. The first priority for children is that ~~they children~~ should be provided with a secure and peaceful environment, so special features of women could not compensate the lack of it. Therefore, fathers who could prepare a more secure and supportive ambience for their children may be more successful than patient mothers who could not do that.

In conclusion, while women have innate qualities that assist them ~~in for~~ being better parents, men could provide other necessities which would play as an important role ~~like as~~ the natural qualities of women. Therefore, I do believe that being a responsible and caring parents is more dependent on individual characteristics than gender differences.