

Increasing the price of petrol is the best way to solve growing traffic and pollution problems.

To what extent do you agree or disagree?

What other measures do you think might be effective?

Nowadays, as we march in this millennium, a current issue around the world is about increasing traffic jams and air pollution. In this essay I am willing to discuss the reasons for my concurrence as well the lother solutions ~~3-reasons that why I concur with this solutions.~~

Some advocates state that if the ~~G~~government boosts the expenditure of petrol individuals are faced with financial constraints and pressure and they will have to are-trying to use public modes devices which are cheaper. Not only does it help to have clear air but also congestion will ~~be~~ decrease significantly.

Few people would deny the significance of using sport facilities as a second solution reason. Here I am referring to the fact that the government must provide free facilities such as bicycles for each citizen to use ~~them~~ instead of cars. Ergo, not only does it solve traffic but also increase public health.

Presumably, another solution to tackle ~~with~~ this worrying trend /issue is using new technologies. in my experience, I see in the other side of the world scientists innovate new electronic cars that are used without any petrol, hence the government should invest and purchase /buy new technologies.

Managing to come up with a conclusion, it seems that ~~by~~ introducing a new culture of using vehicles will enable people to have clear air with fewer without a dangerous diseases. I express the idea that someone must supervise citizens to have a better lifestyle.
