

In many countries children are engaged in some kind of paid work. Some people regard this as completely wrong, while others consider it as valuable work experience, important for learning and taking responsibility.

What are your opinion on this?

Nowadays, a current issue around the world is about nurturing children and their way of life. Some individuals argue that it is essential for them to take responsibility and experience work out, while others oppose it saying that it is a kind of cruelty and obstacle for their advance.

Authority figures state that due to under financial circumstances s in many countries children work because their families need the additional income no matter how small.

On ~~in~~ other hand, there are some employers headsquer that intend to exploitation from children and they pay lower wages less fee to a child in comparisone with professional one. They expect children to work like an adult. it is unfair and it creates a-numerable mental and physical problems.

Thirdly, scientists have proved that children should just play in their childhood. they are not aware of/about the dangers and harms s of an adult environment and maybe damage/harm/hurt to themselvesself. Working in an adult environment is arduous and somehow dangerous. it is surprisingly soon for them to starting to work. they will learn it later when they are at the ~~in~~ suitable age.

In my opinion, it is better to guide children to focus on their education and try to rearing them to learn how ~~who~~ to be responsible and work for the future. if paid work may cause the my to feel disappointed. We can enable them to teach/educate learning children to do unpaid work like helping family members or doing work around the home like gardening or repairing electrical devices devises to be responsible for ~~to~~ their life and be independent.

Consequently, working for children is not an efficient way for being independent. if each age should be spent to according to/related to their wisdom.
