

Subject: happiness is difficult to be defined.some people believe money is the most important factor to reach happiness.what do you think?

Happiness is a key factor in the life of successful people.It can be ~~an enough~~ reason enough to continue life with a sublime goal. In other words, happiness gives meaning to ~~the~~ life. It ~~causes due to~~ life to be sweet, which is why you can't continue ~~without with-out~~ it.

when it is hard for people to come to ~~the a~~ same conclusion on the issue of happiness, a range of common needs are considered to be important in achievinge happiness. First, one needs to see the joy even in small things in life in order to be satisfiedy. For instance, we need to have money which is sufficient affordable for a decent living and for our needs, to have ~~a~~ loving surroundings, we also need to think wisely about the way we care about our health and to practice what we love most in our free time. another important factor should be dedicating a small portion of our lives ~~for to~~ the sake of helpinge other and drawing/bring a smile ~~on in~~ desperate faces.

Unlike us, the wealthy don't like money because this class level of people gain ~~to the~~ money and realize that it money is not enough for you to that you be happy. On the other hand, they think money can make you happy for a limited limitary time and after that you must have health and a good family for becoming happy. They have reached this conclusion that aim to this point that money is good just for a certain level of life and a great part of your life is composed of contains from other parts. I think this is true and when you ~~don't beare not~~ healthful, money can't make become you happy.

As a result, I recommend ~~to~~ that you be happy and ~~don't~~ not associate your happiness with ~~to~~ other factors. ~~something~~.