

many people have pets, other people don't have. in your opinion is it good idea to have a pet or not?

In many countries keeping a pet is very common. There are different reasons that some people keep pets at home. I believe that having a pet is extremely beneficial and can be a new experience.

Clearly there are many problems in this regard. Keeping a pet needs more free time to take them to walk in the fresh air and they need to be washed. It may cost exorbitantly due to needing especial food and medical exams. They must be checked by a veterinarian.

However, there are positive reasons for owning pets. Some animals such as a dog or cat are good accompany when you are walking. You can get exercise when you take it for a walk/walking. Patting pets gives us a sense of relaxation. Sometimes a person who has a dog feels safe while he is alone. Keeping a pet increases responsibility, especially in children.

Anyone who loves or has a pet knows that a pet can be an enormous comfort when the situation is unpleasant. Pets can set free your mind while you are coming home from a busy day. They give you love, laughter and happiness. As Against so many benefits which give your mind and soul peace they need you because of their basic needs.

In conclusion, keeping a pet has merits and demerits. Owning a pet in an apartment is difficult and their care is time-consuming. But my opinion is that their advantages can easily outweigh their disadvantages. I opine having a pet is better than not having one.
