Most of people think that it can be better if children use their leisure time to do more school work. I believe that children should do their homework but they need to have some time to be free. It is unfair if they just do their school work without any pause.

There are some reasons that /why children should spend their free time. Energy of Children must be released. So it is essential needed for children to have some activity such as playing with each other or attending sports classes. Studying excessively more can lead to/cause some drawbacks such as making children tired or disgustedunlike. But watching television and playing with tablets too much time are not suitable for them. In fact, they can use their free time equally to do some activity and school work.

However, children are given too much free time these days. They can develop and enhance their skills in their free time by attending some classes. Their parents must prepare a good plan for them to use their leisure time efficiently. The main hope key of each government is their young people. They have to be ready for future and they need to be guided. For instance, when I was 7-seven years old, my mother registered me in an English class after school. That classes helped me to learn a new language that it is needed at my workplace or university now.

To conclude, in my opinion, children should be used their leisure time equally to do their school work and other to do some activities as well.
