

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement?

Parents are the best teachers.

Actually I think it would be better if we ~~say~~said parents can be the best teachers, to be the best teachers they need to have some other qualities. What they can ~~learn~~teach us depends on what kind of persons they are; if they are intelligent, reliable, honest, kind, modest, hardworking, they can teach us these qualities too.

I mean they can teach us to be a good or bad persons; they can shape our personality; In order to shape it ~~good~~well they themselves should be good.

We should also consider that parents are not like the teachers in school or university, what they teach us and how they teach ~~is~~are completely different, they don't teach us math or literature, as I mentioned before what we learn from them is the way of life, and how we learn it, is really complicated, ~~you know~~ sometimes children follow exactly their parents' way and sometimes they take exactly their opposite, I think this part ~~is~~depend~~ed~~ on children and how they interpreted their parents' actions. Children learn by watching parents' actions and words, sometimes we see parents saying to their children to never lie and always try to be honest and they themselves lie whenever they think it's needed, these contradictions in what they say and what they do could hurt children's attitude toward their parents.

~~As you know~~ the way you take in your life is so important, if you choose it right, when you get older and take a look at your life, you can be proud of what you've done and it's really ~~enjoying~~enjoyable to be satisfied ~~of~~with what you've done in your life. Our parents can help us to make this happen so their role in our life is significant; nobody can deny it, but to be the best teachers, other factors ~~is~~are also required for them.
