

Some people say international sport events help in world peace .do you agree or disagree?

Whether their country wins or not, sport supporters have always great passion for the international competitions and their beloved professional athletes and the nationality of them has not been the issue. I believe that international events, especially sport tournaments, would be a significant chance in broadening the peace among different nations.

On the one hand, some people say that in an international championship, people support their own country due to a patriotic feelings and it is quite possible for each side to break out in a violent quarrel in the case of losing the match which itself can lead to the dissatisfactory and acrimony in of both countries' people. Moreover, that some governments may interfere in these peaceful competitions to achieve their political objectives cannot be denied. Unfortunately, we have been witnessed the cases in which the impartial aspects of such an event were ignored due to some the country's policies. For example, when a sport match is held between Iran and Israel, they refuse to play because their governments force the team members to individuals. Even though we cannot deny this fact, it should be considered that this kind of notion is in minority.

On the other hand, the majority of people prefer peace and friendship between nations and make their every efforts to broadcast videos of the events in international events messages to stop violence and disagreements mostly by using social networks such as YouTube or face book. Besides, these events can be a good rare opportunity for nations to demonstrate their opposition and contrast of their beliefs with their ruling government. That is to say, the public is ready to help to form the world peace. For instance, in Olympic Games in 2014, Palestine and Israel played together in a peaceful manner depart apart from any political issues.

To sum up, I certainly believe that, not only do the international sport events have the power to stop racial discriminations through different nations, but also they can become a worldwide tribune for those people who live in strict restrictions (which are is) put by their leaders to send the message of peace to the whole globe and distinguish the peoples' ideas from their governments' policies.
