

Question:

In the past, when students did a university degree, they tended to study in their own country. Nowadays, they have more opportunities to study abroad.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of this development?

You should use your own ideas, knowledge and experience and support your arguments with examples and relevant evidence.

Answer:

Nowadays, students are more interested in studying abroad. These ~~are-is~~ more appeal to attractiveness studying in foreign countries than just local universities. Not only do the students ~~spend~~ have a high-quality educational life, they invest ~~ment~~ in their future career.

To begin with, in developing countries, ~~are~~ the majority of students are keen on studying abroad. Better educational equipment, more scholarship opportunities and qualified university's scholars are the main benefits to encourage students to travel to another country. According to the Universal Student magazine's survey, conducted in 2017, students living in third world countries, make up the main portion of the international students. Indeed, so poor ~~was-is~~ the economic infrastructure that students prefer to study in developed countries. On the other hand, studying is a time-consuming and costly process for the students. For instance, studying in another country, initially, the students should learn the local language which might take years and a great deal of money for courses.

~~The~~ last but not ~~the~~ least, studying abroad provides a better situation for the students to find a job after graduation. The students who travel around for studying ~~are-~~ interaction interact with a lot of people. Hence, the more links students have, the more chances they have to find a job. In addition, multinational companies prefer to hire students who studied in different countries. Owing to cross-cultural life styles, students are able to adapt to multinational company atmospheres easily. On the other sidehand, due to the country's ~~ies~~ political situation, governments impose introduce quotas on the companies to hire foreigners. All these issues should be considered by the students.

To sum up, the growth of students who choose to study in a different country is one of ~~the~~ today's hot topics. To find better education conditions , and a better career are two main advantages of studying abroad.