

Some people say that artists such as painters, writers and musicians affect our life more than scientists. To what extent do you agree or disagree? Give reasons for your answer and include relevant examples from your experience.

Many people believe that art and the artistic works like music, films and books ~~have~~ influenced humans' life more than other fields ~~of activity~~ like science and technology. ~~In-on~~ the contrary some others strongly claim that it was scientists who improved our lives from caves to luxurious modern cities. When it comes to this notion my vote ~~s~~ goes for the latter viewpoint opining that science ~~have-has~~ had more effective roles in improvement of our lives. This essay will elaborate on the importance of science in modern human life, and influence of the artists on civilization with some examples based on my experience.

First and foremost, I think humans started to develop science owing to the threats they felt around them. Primitive men were losing their lives so easily that they ~~were forced to~~ ~~made them~~ invent fire and shelter to be protected against harsh conditions ~~s~~ around ~~him~~ ~~them~~. Assuming fire as the first invention of our ancestors, our fathers consider it a breakthrough protecting them against freezing winters. After this crucially important invention, cavemen tried to protect themselves against other life-threatening factors such as diseases and wild animals, hence introduction of basics of life at that time like a shelter to live in and primitive knives. Historians claim that art and artistic works were created after cavemen managed to save their life against life-threatening dangers. In fact the first paintings were discovered in caves when people felt they are somehow safe without fearing ~~of~~ losing their lives.

With a gradual sense of security, and to answer people's requests for entertainment the art and artists came into existence. Tired of hard work ~~z~~ especially after the industrial revolution in Europe, modern men were demanding the lost happiness in their lives. In fact, artists impacted our life after scientists succeeded in saving our lives.

To put it in a nutshell, I believe that scientists impacted our lives first, and after that artists ~~have-~~ changed the way we look at life. In fact, they soften ~~the~~ uneven points in humans' life. I believe that artists are somehow dependent ~~to-on~~ scientists, because it is scientists who are saving artists' lives.
