

Some people prefer to spend their lives doing the same things and avoiding change. Others, however, think that change is always a good thing. Discuss both these views and give your own opinion

There are two points of view about changing our lives or not. Some individuals would like to keep their lives without any changes and continue their daily routine issues, on the other hand, some people try to change and modify their lives based on the situations and technologies. I completely agree with this estimation that be-being updated with the latest changes/developments leads to positive changes in our lives.

First, some ~~persons~~ do not try to change their lives because they are relaxing with their current life styles. Imagine one worker or employee that ~~have-has~~ a good salary and position in his/her company. With this circumstance, He/she has no motivation to learn new things and He/she ~~wants-prefers~~ to use this routine methods. In some cases, fear of the future or changing makes the people ~~to be~~ standstillinactive. For instance, one worker with a that-has wife and children ~~has-is~~ always scared for finding a job if he wants to change his activityoccupation.

The second approach is related to some people that always try to change based on the environment situations. Now-nowadays a day with the high pace of world changing and technologies the successful people know how to adapt towith them. If you get used to a routine life you cannot learn new things and ~~lost-lose~~ some opportunities in future. I ~~had-have~~ a perfect example of the power of changing related to my major field activity. I worked for a small company with normal salary and low volume of daily works. After a while I received a new job offer opportunities from an other company that was completely acting on the other field of my activity, finally I ~~have~~ changed my job to experience new technologies and science.

In conclusion, be-ing familiar with the latest changes in the world can increase our ability to deal with the universe. Just look at successful people in the world, they completely follow this method to achieve tremendous wealth and fame. We must try a new world because we just live ~~ones-once~~ and have no chance when we are getting old.
