

Many things that used to be done in the home by hands are now being done by machines. Does this development bring more advantages or disadvantages?

Since Half a century ago ~~since ever~~, technology has developed dramatically and undoubtedly has affected the people's lifestyle in different ways. One of the obvious changes which gradually has ~~being~~ been completed is how to manage the household chores with ~~the~~ less help of the hand. Anyway, there is a question whether these changes ~~were~~ have been more fruitful or not. ~~?~~

Despite the fact that always there are a lot of individuals who are against the hi-tech, in this day and age, hardly can we find anybody who does not like to get rid of the housework. Therefore, like any other people, I confirm the advantages of the developments relating to household chores. In the following paragraph I will explain more about the pros of such technological progress.

With the rise of some instruments s in the household appliances industry, such as washing machines s, dish washers s, vacuum cleaners s, steam irons s as well as turning satellite dishes, most of the housework tasks ~~has~~ have become ~~became~~ easier. For instance, in the past, ~~persons~~ people had to wash their clothes ~~handy~~ by hand, or sweeping the home took more times s than now do, so not only were such tasks ~~so~~ too boring but also rather in long time led to some physical disorders. In other words, today, anybody can finish those tasks in the shortest time possible and of course with less difficulty. As a result, individuals could find more free time at home to allocate ~~it~~ to their desired activities. For example, parents especially the housewives could spend more times s with their offspring, so it would have positive effect on the way of upbringing of children. Moreover, the families ~~who~~ where both couples have jobs s could find more times s in the home for resting and relaxing.

To sum up, it is an unwritten rule that "The more facilities, the less time wasting. Hence, it is undeniable that the hi-tech has had positive effect on the household chores and brought about more time for some other useful activities.
