

Some people believe that it is more important to teach children the literature of their own country than on other countries .

Do you agree or disagree ?

~~Owing to considering that the~~ literature ~~which~~ is a cultural heritage ~~a question that arises is~~ ~~it addresses the question of~~ whether or not children ~~should~~ learn their own culture or exotic literature. I, for one, assert that youngsters should be fostered ~~to learning~~ their literature rather than ~~that of~~ other countries.

Firstly, it must be said that each country has ~~their~~ ~~its~~ culture which is an integral part of ~~their~~ ~~its~~ civilization. For promoting this culture, we need to teach the children. The literature encompasses a wide range of stories, popular mythologies and collection of poems that all play a leading role in showing a country's culture. Therefore, youngsters should be encouraged to be familiar with their literary heritage. This fulfils a valuable social function in terms of bringing children up. In some cases, it leads youths to hold ~~it~~ ~~ing~~ in their honour and boost~~ing~~ children's sense of self-confidence. As a case in point, we could mention that scholars who have studied about origins of writing pointed ~~ed~~ out ancient civilization attributed origins of writing to Chinese, so children who were born in this country could be in honour of this phenomenon.

A further well-known factor is that youngsters could be a member of literary communities, and evolving their knowledge of this major, A major segment of popular poets were known by those. Although studying homeland's literature has crucial influences on children's characteristics~~s~~, it should be acknowledged that foreign literature may be an outstanding resource to the accompaniment of ours. For instance, there are valuable plays which ~~were written~~ according to universal novels, ~~were written~~.

In conclusion, it seems advisable that children focus on their own country's literature, ~~because this way they will be able to better know~~ ~~due to the fact that~~ ~~it brings about subsequently they could be preferable to knowing~~ their culture and civilization.
