

Task1: you are planning to visit a foreign country. Write a letter to your friends and say

- Where and when do you plan to go?
- What are the details of your plan?
- Why do you want them to go with you?

Dear Mohammad and Sahand

I hope everything is going well with you both. I am writing to inform you of my plan about an exciting ~~ingement~~ trip which I have organized. As you know, within a month the football world cup will be held in Russia, so I am going to go there and watch 3 matches of our national team.

The exact date of my departure is on 21th of July to Saint Petersburg. I will stay one week there and then I will go to Kazan and after 3 days I will leave there ~~to-for~~ Moscow, Totally 2 weeks.

It is crystal clear that apart from the world cup event, there are many other tourist ~~m~~ attractions in such a beautiful country. Therefore, during this journey I would-will visit some ancient buildings especially one which is located ~~on-in~~ the center of Saint Petersburg. Moreover, sightseeing and trying local foods as well as watching traditional dances of other visitors to Russia which the fans of other countries who would attend in this tournament will be amazing.

I know that both of you are avid fans of soccer and I am sure that you will enjoy ~~to-watch~~ watching the matches in sport arena. Hence, I would be happy if you join ed me, because spending times together for two weeks during this fascinating experience would be so enjoyable.

I am looking forward to hearing from you as soon as possible.

Yours faithfully

Saman

Task2: In many countries the proportion of older people is steadily increasing. Some think this is good, while others believe this is a problem for a country. Discuss both views and give your own opinion.

Today, the population of old people has escalated dramatically compared with a half a century ago. Some consider it a ~~n~~ all-right ~~positive~~ achievement. However, the others believe that this issue would be a problem for society. In the following paragraphs I will compare two opposite sides and I will explain my own point of view as well.

On the one hand, the advocates of such change are of this opinion that living longer than the past will give people a chance to experience much more events and to enjoy the time of their retirements more sufficiently. Moreover, the youngsters will benefit from the experiences as well as free times of their older counterparts during their lives. In other words, not only ~~do~~are they enable to use using the old generations' advic~~se~~ but also they can leave their offspring with their grandparents during the work hours to treatcare for them.

On the other hand, the opponents claim that liveliving a life for a long time in essence is a good matter, but in a proper situation. In other words, anybody should not~~es~~ that only a minority of such an old population are healthy and well, but many of them suffer from a variety of both physical and mental disorders. In addition, the expenses of their drugs are prohibitively expensive. Hence, annually government has to allocate a huge budget to afford such a high cost. Furthermore, sometimes the children or even grand children of thisthese elderly sick individuals have to leave their jobs to treattake care of/look after their grand parents or at least they need to hire a nursery that ~~it~~ would cost them much money to them too.

In my estimation, it is true that living by itself is an enjoyable blessing, but'' when you as an old man/woman are able to afford your bare bones, also you are conscious enough to be aware of your surroundings understand yourself'', otherwise your life is meaningless.

To sum up, my idea is much closer to the second group of this essay and I believe that the cons of such development outweigh its pros.
