

Some people believe that children should be allowed to stay at home and play until they are six or seven years old. Others believe that is important for young children to go to school as soon as possible. What do you think are the advantages of attending school from a young age?

There has always been a considerable debate over the topic as to whether of children must stay at home and spend their whole time with their parents and play games till six or seven years old or enrolling to-in school at a younger age. My firm conviction is that today's children's ability is much higher than before and going to school in-at younger ages seems to like a proper choice.

In this day and age, preparation of children for their future life is one of the major concerns of parents. Growing in all aspects of life especially communication with other people or peers and learning updated science and technology leads children to have a broader vision for their upcoming life. By enlisting children to-in kindergarten or preschool and focusing in-on practical training, they can develop their main talents and improve them. On the other hand, nowadays, due to economic and social conditions, both father and mother are forced to have a job to cover their costs and make provide a better life for themselves and their children. Therefore, they will face to serious trouble to take care of their infants when they are not in-at home. To conquer to this matter, they are forced to hire a nanny or baby sitter that imposes high expenditure to-on family's economy. So it is a logical method to send their children to school to cover both goals: education and keeping children or child care.

To sum up, with-by considering rapid changes in the world and huge requirements of new generation besides time limitation of parents, it seems that registration of children at a younger age in school is the best way to support them. By the way, after working hours the parents and children join together again and all the offspring will enjoy both benefits of parents and school simultaneously.
