In some countries an increasing number of people are suffering from health problems as a result of eating too much fast food. It is therefore necessary for governments to impose a higher tax on this kind of food.
To what extent do you agree or disagree with this opinion?

Todays by considering the change ~~of~~ in taste and busy life, people prefer to eat fast food without considering the health problems due to excessive consumption of fast food. ~~From my point of view~~, I strongly agree with the governments to implement higher tax on fast food.

People are too busy in their life and do not have enough time for cooking foods, so they tend to buy fast foods. This is the reason that people suffer from different diseases such as Obesity. people become overweight. Some scientists' research has shown that people of US are more suffering from the problems of obesity than other countries . This is one of the consequences of fast food consumption.

On the other hand, these foods are really unhealthy and can lead to several health problems such as respiratory , heart and kidney problems. These health problems ~~can~~ could be reduced if the government implemented a higher tax on fast foods. According to this, people will stop buying these foods and prepare their own foods. Moreover, there will be not only a dramatic economi~~cally~~ change in the consumption of junk foods but also people will be more concerned about their health.

In conclusion, there will be ~~less~~ smaller number of people consuming fast food if the governments ~~rise~~ raise the tax. ~~However~~ although this might not be the reason to stop people consuming fast foods, it can be solutions for these problems. Governments should play~~have impose~~ a crucial role in paying ~~to pay~~ for ~~the~~ health and food~~s~~.
