

Although more and more people read news on the internet, newspapers will remain the most important source of news.

To what extent do you agree or disagree?

Despite the fact that ~~the-an~~ array of members of the public tend to have an access to news sources on the internet, newspapers ~~would-will~~ be ~~a~~ significant tools for ~~readers~~. I, personally, wholeheartedly disagree with the given opinion and assume that the modern technological facilities have substituted ~~those-the-of~~ traditional ~~ones~~.

Not only do individuals consider different websites so proper a platform, but they also take numerous advantages of ~~its-their~~ abilities such as sending an email and investigating diverse scientific issues. ~~A~~ ~~Further-further~~ and even more important notion is associated with the fact that the new way of reading news is cost efficient and much more user-friendly especially these days when individuals are mostly follow~~ing~~ a hectic lifestyle. In other words, they can have ~~an~~-access to information through their smart phones and they should not go out of home for buying newspapers.

Due to reduction in either the popularity of paper based news or the detrimental effects of cutting trees on the environment, producing the traditional news medium has started to decline. It means that individuals prefer to enjoy sitting in front of a screen and collect newly published news without ~~deteriorating-aggravating~~ natural resources. In addition, in this way they can easily read a wide range of publications simultaneously.

To put in a nutshell, I once again reaffirm my position with regard to the higher rate of the up-to-date~~d~~ sort of information significance and from my point of view, the easier way of receiving details of new events, the more attractive choice among customers.
