

It is important for children to learn the difference between right and wrong at an early age. Punishment is necessary to help them learn this distinction. To what extent do you agree or disagree with this opinion? What sort of punishment should parents and teachers be allowed to use to teach good behavior to children?

Bringing up polite and well-mannered children is the most important issue and worry for all parents around the world. Punishment is an essential key ~~to~~ train in traing young children to behave properly. While penalizing young children has constantly been controversial, how to punish them, by verbal punishment or corporal punishment, and in what way is also an important matter. The ~~parent's~~ parents' smallest act may cause a huge irreparable damage to children.

From ancient times up to now, it was common to punish children corporally. They did not pay attention to all the possible effects which may have been on children. Meanwhile, the nature of the punishment has its fruitful aspect too if it is applied by a proper method. The important matter is that there must be coordination between the kind of crimes and punishments. For instance, when a child utters inappropriate words, a fair punishment for this could be not to talk them for a short period of time or not to play with their friends. Some memories from my childhood were that my parents did not talk to me for a short time as a punishment and because of my personality it had a suitable result on me.

The simplest method of raising kids which is seen is that become conditional by people for treating animals such as dogs. People's children due to having intelligent capability, only if they are taught proper behavior by a special methods intelligently can they learn to behave correctly sooner than animals.

Physical punishment is no longer used in most of the developed countries. It could still be found in underdevelopment underdeveloped countries. This form of punishment has its negative effect on children's future and may rear aggressive, ruthless and bully adults or against them lack of confidence, Self-esteem, under determination and insecurity might happen to them. All of the disreputable criminals have often had a pitiful pass in their childhood.

To conclude, punishment is necessary to teach children morality and help them learn to distinguish suitable behavior from inappropriate ones. However, in my opinion, penalizing children must be verbal and to some extent practical and it is necessary that to heed notices the personality type of them when some punishment will beis applying applied to them.
