Young people say that traveling to different countries benefits them and society.

Do you agree or disagree? Give your opinion.

It is often argued that traveling is more advantageous for both travelers and communities. I quiet agree whit this idea and from my point of view spending time in vacations are a great pleasure.

First of all, I suppose that the most important influence that traveling would bring is ensure peace of mind. Without any doubt these days living make you suffer from so many stress and unpleasant moment, by journey you have a chance to separate yourself from daily life and let the life present you with the numerous opportunities that are waiting for you. There are great possibilities for making new friends, gaining new experience and being introduced with other culture, history and lifestyles.

One of the other point is boots up confidence, you are going to make new journey by yourself or with your family members or friends, living in another foreign country with different language force you to take care of yourself and your attendants, you should be careful with money spending and saving and pay attention to where you are going at your trip.

The important thing that shouldn't be forgotten is the great chance of making memories of lifetime. You will be going to the other countries, societies and it would be a valuable occasion to be introduced with other natures, cultures and backgrounds so it would be definitely one of the most exciting time of everyone's life. Everyone should be sure of recording their incidents.

To conclude, I strongly believe that you should go on trips as much as you can which have a direct influence on your life and spirit and will make you to have unforgettable lifetime experience and moments.
