

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement? Universities should give the same amount of money to their students' sports activities as they give to their university libraries. Use specific reasons and examples to support your opinion.

Driving the funds of universities between athletic programs and educational facilities is a crucial issue. Many individuals claim that colleges should pay for just educational parts. However, others think that athletic activities need more costs. In addition, I strongly believe that doing exercises are much more necessary to persons and colleges have a vital role to teach this matter.

On the one hand, some people maintain that universities are the environment of studying, so they should cost for teaching subjects more than sports activities. Besides, libraries have much more expensive costs, as well as providing the requirements of libraries is a vital duty.

On the other hand, in my opinion not only is it important to encouraging students to do sports for being healthy but also we can have benefits of these activities. First, many an individual cans help financial problems of college by selling tickets of the competitions. Second, sometimes having healthy and glad collectors is more crucial than having unhappy scientists. Meanwhile, colleges has a main part of life for whom studying in. For instance, a friend of mine points out that her neck has had pain because lack of activities. But she could have opportunities to exercise in her free time in the university.

Furthermore, the students can improve their skills by doing sports. They can learn more lessons and optimize the energy and the time that they put. In other words, I know of a professor who solves complicated problems by Yoga. He believes that he cannot be happy until he is immovable.

In conclusion, both sports and library are useful for students and colleges should pay attention to both of them. Sometimes issues seem complicated but the solutions are simple. Hence, they can pay temporary costs for sports and after a while they can have income of that.
