

As most people spend a major part of their adult life at work, job satisfaction is an important element of individual well-being. .What factors contribute to job satisfaction? How realistic is the expectation of job satisfaction for all workers?

It is obvious that job satisfaction is one of the most important factors of humans` life related to the significant time that they spend at work. Obviously, numerous factors have influence on that and this essay will review some of them.

First of all, doing valued or valuable jobs plays a vital role in job satisfaction. Meaning that, they take delight in doing a profitable job for their company as well as their country instead of other quotidian duties. In other words, an individual works hard to utilize his personal skills and gather more experiences along with new knowledge relating to his job. Besides, another group opines that there is a set of environmentally critical circumstances at the work place, which could have direct impact on their efficiency. As an example, they found themselves ~~pleasant~~ pleased with friendly mannerss of their manager or even colleagues.

Another crucial factor is ~~monitory~~ monetary satisfaction. There is no doubt that all the people incur the expenses of life which is ascending nowadays. Because of that, a well-paid job not only could lead to a deeply satisfying feeling about their career, but also it makes humans` life as calm as possible. However, being satisfied about the handsome salary is mostly short-term, one who is satisfied with certain amount of money today may ask for more tomorrow.

To sum up, undoubtedly the factors related to job satisfaction ~~varies~~ variy from person to person. Therefore, each person should find a job which is more in accordance with their desire.