

Some experts believe that it is better for children to begin learning a foreign language at primary school rather than secondary school. Do the advantages outweigh the disadvantages?

Through the modern and globalized world which we will face forward, an effective way to communicate with other nations is to learn an international language. Almost, young children are able to learn and grasp new language very fast during elementary schools. The pattern of their brain has not completely grown and they have struggled with their mother tongue yet. Many scientists and also ordinary people are in favor of learning new language in early age which is easier than in adulthoods. Drawbacks and benefits of this topic will be covered in this essay.

Obviously, the important point is that pupils are fast learners and there is no doubt that they just have a simple routine curriculum in their primary school without any certain and crucial responsibilities. Thus, they are capable of focusing every new phenomenon and subjects. According to the new researchers, young children from the age of 5 to 9 have the ability to learn fast and are less self-conscious and shy. They can pronounce the new words from other languages quickly and also make a lot of mistakes in grammar parts without any hesitating. This is a significant key to success. The benefits of learning second or third languages are not covered to everyone. In other words, these days, having proper job opportunities is the one consequence of that in the chaos of society.

Howeveralthough, pupils can learn very fast, they should study various subjects in science which are the basis of their lessons. Not only should they learn a variety range of lessons, but also they have to be acquainted with their culture, history and society. Besides, some young children may be confused in learning their fundamentals of exact science such as mathematics and physics due to striving to grasp new languages.

To conclude, it is clear that some minor disadvantages will never prevent young children from learning an international language in comparison with secondary students who may confront more difficulties through studying new languages, because the new generations are faced many new gadgets and devices which will be discovered in the future. Among excessively speeding world, to reach our goals and better future, all schools must be have some compulsory new language course for their students in-at the primary school level.
