

Young people in the modern world seem to have more power and influence than any previous young generation.

Why is this case? What impact does this have on the relationship between old and young people?

In this era, irrespective of nationalities, all youngsters have more influence in both societies and families. Requirements of today communities have huge effect on youth people to be more strong and effective nowadays.

In this essay, I will discuss some reasons of this phenomenon and clarify the side effect of this issue between young and old generations.

First and foremost, due to world rapid changes, new technologies and sciences are created every day, so we need individuals to deal with such technologies in proper way. Not only have young people tremendous attraction to new materials but also they are always tackling with them. Internet-based jobs need individuals which have great capabilities to this fast-paced life for organizing them corresponding to latest updated data.

Secondly, in this day and age, universities are represented new courses that never existed before and old people never think or heard about them. World is changing in blink of an eye and only a fresh mind which only-be is found in-among the youth could fulfill these huge demands because they can learn more things in comparison with elder generations.

On the other hand, because of greater influence and more responsibilities in young generations, maybe they lost communication with their parents or grandparents easily due to huge differences between the knowledge level and updated information. In some cases, the young generation rude about them and eliminate them from their goals.

To put it in a nutshell, face-changed life required-requires more flexible people that-with great compatibilities to these changes and only the fresh parts of societies support this demand. But we should keep our relation to-with the older ones and respect them always because they provided us with love and peace.
