

Do you agree or disagree?

It is better for children to choose jobs which are very similar to their parents' job than to choose jobs that are different from their parents'.

People have various criteria for choosing their future job such as talent, earnings, and simplicity. I think the most important factor on which we should place a premium is considering individuals single entities. Therefore, there is no obligation to have regard ~~to~~ for parents' jobs. In the following paragraphs, I will elaborate on my arguments.

First, each person has his own abilities and talents. This is extremely important to pay regard ~~for to~~ what knack the child has. In fact, there are many children ~~which their~~ whose parents' jobs are not their favorite ones. For instance, I know of a professional psychologist ~~which whose~~ his daughter does not like to work or have any job. Moreover, although many of the talents are hereditary, sometimes people are not interested in what talent they have. As a result, parents should give priority to their offspring's talents and interests.

Next, for some people, one of the considerable criteria for having a job is its earnings and position. Many of the children all over the world are not satisfied with their parents' jobs or social class. There were many genius ~~es people~~ from poor families and decided to change their lives and their families'. In other words, I strongly believe that had people followed the given statement, no progress or changes would have been made. In fact, if people limited their job opportunities, the world would be deprived of many talents and creative ideas.

However, ~~this it~~ is an undeniable fact that people pay attention to their parents' work when they want to make their decisions about their lives. Parents' occupations give the young individuals a real picture of the jobs such as their positions in society, income, and difficulty.

To conclude, I opine that we should not limit our children about their future. All we should do is inform and give them some advice. Making rules about young generation's future means prevent ing them from dreaming and hoping, while we are living in the hope of ~~the a~~ peaceful future.
