

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement? In order to be well-informed, a person must get information from many different news resources. Use specific reasons and examples to support your answer.

In this day and age, many people tend to be well-versed and there is a multitude of ways to attain information. In order to ~~having~~ have a lot of information people have to gain it from many news outlets and also reliable people. I totally support the statement for the following reasons.

Admittedly, nowadays a vast variety of news resources are available to people readily. Some of the news resources distort the information, hence, if people crave to be well-informed, they ought to follow many news resources s to get comprehensive and ~~reputable~~ valid/reliable information. A lot of TV channels have become pervasive on satellites which produce a ~~number~~ lot of beneficial information and news from different aspects. Moreover, with the advent of the internet, there are a lot of websites which broadcast the news all around the globe. Not only does the net provide a lot of convenience for availability of the news for people, but also thanks to new technology on mobile phones people can be kept informed about the news where ~~ver~~ ever they are.

equally importantly, although news resources provide a lot of information for people, there are some other ways to gain information. These days, people are connected with each other in many places in society or on the web and they can ~~broaden~~ gain their information with the help of each other. For example, in universities students can obtain a lot of information from their teachers. Furthermore, a lot of information can be derived ~~with~~ by interacting in the work place. In other words, people can benefit from the knowledge of their colleagues.

To put it in a nutshell, with the aid of a vast variety of news ~~resources~~ people can have the opportunity to achieve a huge amount of information and more importantly they can get thorough information from the people who they are in touch with ~~them~~.