

Some people argue that it is more important to have an enjoyable job than to earn a lot of money. Others disagree and think that a good salary leads to a better life.

Today, having a proper job is a moot point which most of the people are dealing with. This essay will discuss both sides of this issue.

First of all, it is important for most of the people to have an enjoyable job with a high salary. However, this opportunity does not occur for all. In addition, everyone knows that money does not bring happiness but the lack of money can certainly bring unhappiness and misery.

After that, life becomes easier when you have a job with adequate income. Therefore, everybody can buy whatever is needed for better life and also can study upper levels of education. Moreover, a handsome salary makes life easier to be healthier since people can purchase organic foods and work out in the gym.

On the other hand, job satisfaction is one of the main factors in life. A Job without interest is a problem which people are dealing with. Boring jobs render people ~~lose their motivation~~ demotivated which in turn leads to less productivity in companies. People have more progress and job satisfaction when they do their favorite job. I read a book which had mentioned that by doing a favorite job money comes after it, so you must do a job that you love ~~it~~.

Furthermore, some people work long hours to obtain a high salary which causes their children to see them rarely and when they get home, the children are usually asleep. However, through cost management people can spend more time at home, so they can enjoy life better with their immediate family.

In conclusion, I believe that an enjoyable job is more important than a boring job with a high salary. However, the expenses of life cannot be ignored ~~to~~ either.