

Nowadays computers are widely used in education, as a result, some people think teachers no longer play an important roles in classrooms . To what extent do you agree or disagree.

It is important to consider, the education system and way of learning have changed due to use technology tools such as computers . There are many people who think computers are tacking the place of teachers and teachers are not playing important role in classes. I, however, completely disagree with the given asserting on the basis of some compelling reasons.

To begin with, the most rational justification is that students have different abilities to learn. In all case, teachers realize the intellectual incapacity of them so they can launch compensation scheme for their classes. Although, by using computers, pupils can collect useful information, most of them are not adequate for them. These information can be organized by teachers in effectively ways.

In addition, another argument against shrink of teachers roles in classroom is that teachers-they have other responsibilities toward students except apart from educational part such that they must pay attention to manifold aspects of student's-characters , show them the right way of behavior, teach them cooperating and social treatment. Computers are just a tool what can not respond to all of the students need to know. In other words, computers are the best equipment to improve knowledge that I know about them basically. On the contrary, teachers can enable are able to understand variety- various aspects of pupil's demand and can teach them how they can become useful adults.

In conclude, I personality-personally take the view that it is ethically unacceptable to replace teachers with computers . I strongly believe that teachers are the backbone of classrooms.
