

Some people think that the teenage years are the happiest time of most of people's lives, while others believe that the adult life brings more happiness, in spite of greater responsibilities.

Discuss both these views and give your own opinion.

In my opinion, mindset and insight of each individual have much of a role to play in their lifespan. In other words, every period of life for instance, teenage years or adulthood has its own advantages and disadvantages. Therefore, anybody should manage their various situations in order to enjoy life perfectly.

On one hand, in terms of responsibility, teenagers are not comparable with adults at all. Since merely parents are completely responsible ~~to-for provide-providing~~ financial items for their charges, children do not have any stress in this regard. Furthermore, not only are devoted parents financially supportive, but also their offspring are supported emotionally by them at those ages. However, adolescents are on the threshold of adult life, so they can start to work in order to experience responsibilities for their future. Besides, lovely and memorable school friendships are other main points which bring about happiness.

On the other hand, on the psychological side, maturity in adulthood is ~~an~~ invaluable factor in life for everybody despite ~~the~~ huge amount of ~~responsibilities-responsibility~~ of that period. I strongly believe that the mentioned maturity is obtained through the correct manner of nurture. In addition, new experiences such as working in ~~a~~ specific career are absolutely beneficial. In particular, those who have ~~interest and-enthusiasm-forin~~ performing their job are more prone to acquire novel professional skills which in turn lead~~s~~ to enhancing their abilities. Moreover, ~~the~~ work's atmosphere and its challenges bring about more and more confidence by which everyone can always express their notions easily in each condition. Last but not least, my firm conviction is that satisfactory marriage is a precious experience of the mentioned period of life and has ~~effective-huge~~ impacts on people's characteristics.
