

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement? Students are more influenced by their teachers than by friends. Use specific reasons and example to support your answer.

It is obvious that schools play a ~~significant~~ significant role in students' life. ~~The~~ both teachers and friends can impact ~~to~~ students which I suppose they are more influenced by their friends and I feel this is for a couple of reasons which I explain in this essay.

First of all, students and teachers never can be ~~a~~ friends because of their relationship. Students count on their teachers just like a teacher no more than and they think teachers want to ~~advise~~ advise them all the time. In fact, teachers can easily distinguish false from correct but because of their ages gap, students are more influenced by their friends. The students who ~~in~~ are ~~thea~~ same age probably will have the same interests and activities which make them so close together and feel more comfortable, so it ~~conductive~~ conducive to ~~they~~ can their discussing more freely and being amicable with less ~~out~~ any embarrassment or fear. For instance, my cousin is communicating with his friend more than his teacher and when his mother asks him if he has any problem with his teacher, he says ask my friend.

On the other hand, students spend ~~much~~ more time with their friends than their teachers even outside of the campus, during the break time, so it is clear they have a more relationship with their friends because they only see their teachers at the class and the communication between students and teachers is related to the course, so in that case they cannot have a major effect on students' character or behavior. Besides, some teachers think they are superior ~~of~~ to students, although it is a fact, they should not behave in a way that makes students uncomfortable if they want to have friendly relationship with their students. For example, when I was an undergraduate student, I had a professor who was ~~4~~ four years older than me but because she was always selfish, nobody liked her and we could not communicate with her.

Ultimately, although it depends on students' personality as to which type of characteristics they can ~~be~~ communicate with, based on my experience students are more influenced by their friends ~~because~~ because they have more time, friendly hours and a common point of view with each others.
