

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement? Teachers should not make their social or political views known to students in the classroom. Use specific reasons and examples to support your answer.

It is obvious that teachers talk about various aspects in the class and from my point of view for ~~indicates-expressing~~ their views about social and political objects, it depends on students' age and I feel this is for a couple of reasons which I explain in this essay.

First of all, students spend most of their time in the school, so they imitate from their teachers. If they are young as they cannot distinguish between true ideas and false views, teachers should not state their opinion because students might ~~make~~ misinterpret it. For instance, when I was 11 my teacher took us to the Bahman 22 rally, we did not know why we ~~should~~ had to go to this ceremony. we went there only because our teachers said you we must had to participate in this glorious demonstrations but when we grew up we understood this parade is totally wrong.

Another point which I advocate is that the teachers should illustrate everything clearly and they must allow students to think and decide freely without any pressure because children should learn how to ~~behavetreat~~ and communicate with people who have a diverse opinion and different communities. Besides, they should learn all around the world people with various perspectives have ~~a~~ the same rights and they must respect everyone.

On the other hand, actually students go to school to enhance their knowledge and if the teacher talks about political ~~things~~ issues, he/she will waste ~~of~~ students' time and also children are curious about articles outside books, so they can put all their attention to focus on what teachers say, as a result they ~~loss~~ lose their concentration on the science matters and this kind of subjects cannot be beneficial for students under 18 because they did not reach ~~to the~~ age of reason.

Ultimately, expression of social and political aspects by teachers for students cannot be useful because they are too young for this type of discussions and they must pay attention to their lessons, and additionally they are autonomous in their thinking.
