

Some people believe that women should be treated as equal to men when applying for a job with police or the military. Others think women are less suitable for this kind of job. Discuss both views and give your opinion.

There ~~has~~ have been heated debates amongst people as to whether women candidates who are applying for joining the police force or the army should be treated on an equal footing or not. I would argue that all individuals should have ~~the~~ equal opportunities that are not biased toward a certain gender.

~~In~~ on one hand, some people believe that women cannot overcome the insurmountable barriers in such hard jobs since they are physically and mentally different from their male counterparts. The advocates of this idea claim that women's personal characteristics serve as a deterrent while carrying out their duties since these jobs require severity with offenders and criminals. Moreover, they believe that women's physical capabilities are not on a par with those of men. That is to say, women are less likely to win face-to-face battles and fights and they will be the underdog.

On the other hand, although men and women have major differences on several grounds, it does not mean that ~~they~~ the latter are not capable of serving in the army or working as a policewoman. Most of people's traits come from their genes and their hormones which can ~~be~~ vary from one person to another in both genders. In other words, being sensitive is not restricted to one gender. In addition, physical capabilities can be enhanced by taking exercises. That there are many women taking part in extreme sports such as wrestling and boxing is an undeniable fact. Joining clubs and showing perseverance, women can build their physical capabilities and ~~preparing~~ prepare for real fights. I do opine that depriving women of what they desire to do, however challenging, is a kind of discrimination which is against equality, hence the importance of altering our view about this matter.

In conclusion, while some share the view that women are not suited to military and police jobs, I believe that it is their inalienable right and no one should impose any restriction whatsoever ~~to be~~ entitled to.
