

Subjects like arts, music and drama are more important than other school subjects and therefore should be given more time in the calendar.

Do you agree or disagree?

Arts subjects such as music and drama are fundamentals that enrich our lives. Nowadays schools are concentrated on teaching more academic subjects such as mathematics, science, literature and history. In my opinion, arts subjects should be taught more than academic ones, it's more practical and workable. As following

In the first place music and the creative arts are part of the joy of humanity. These are make you a better learner. Also music stimulates the parts of the brain associated with academic achievement, such as reading and math and emotional development.

After that music can improve memory. Moreover, research has shown that exposing children to music in early development helps them learn words, sounds and meaning, and dancing helps build motor skills. However, in academic courses, such things are taught in a different way.

Finally students interpret visual imagery from artists and learn about art history, it helps them understand the concept of cultural diversity. Art and music help people feel more connected to one another, as well.

As a result, creative and performing arts can help the physical and mental wellbeing of many students, building confidence and allowing them to relax.
