

Children should always follow their parents' advice.

To what ~~extant~~extent do you agree or disagree with this statement?

Many people ~~contain~~including children believe that boys and girls should follow their parents'~~s~~' advice which ~~it~~ has many advantages. This rule has been leading us to make ~~less~~fewer mistakes generation after generation.

Parents have ~~a~~ plenty of experiences. They have tried many things as they aged. These people are like a huge magical book with their knowledge and their parent's knowledge. However, there is a ~~little~~small Percentage that ~~they~~ may be wrong. There is nothing absolutely right though. Mothers and fathers also know their child better than anything in the whole world, so they would recognize what has been made for their children and what leads them to an unsatisfying future. Sometimes young people do not know what ~~do~~ they like or what is the purpose and target of studying ,exercising and life so in this situation they need some advisors with whom~~which~~ they can~~used to~~ pursue their progress with a~~the~~ high focus. ~~These people would be parents for sure.~~

On the other hand, some parents have some reasonable factors that show they are not suitable advisors or at least ~~they~~their knowledge is not enough, especially ~~in~~ these days ~~that~~when everything is growing amazingly fast. Even sometimes children are disadvantaged or they ~~don't~~do not have qualified~~proper~~ parents. In my opinion the government must take some actions and ~~doesn't~~not let these children stay away from society and ~~meets~~ the needs of them.

Above all children should not always be told what to do. They have to experience by themselves, which ~~this method~~ sometimes works better than following tested advices like a piece of cake. They need to use this method to prove experiences to their subconscious brain. ~~Also~~ this way is risky though.

In conclusion, parents' ~~advices~~ could be the best ones so in important cases, we ought to listen to them and in some normal cases, we had better ~~to~~ experience by ourselves and practice how to make decisions.
