

Discuss if ever, capital punishment can be viewed as a valid punishment for crime.

Death ~~warrant~~ sentence has been an approach of punishing culprits for a good ~~decades~~ century. But there has always been disputes ~~on~~ as to whether it is a proper punishment for crimes or not. In this essay, I will discuss both sides of this debate.

On the one hand, there are people who claim that judicial murder is not the best way for punishment since there have been cases in which police ~~executed~~ arrested “ ~~an innocent person~~ culprit “ instead of “ the real culprit “ just to close the file and if police picked up a wrong person as a perpetrator ~~mistakenly~~ unintentionally, there would be no chance to make amends and bring that person back to life while by imprisonment we still have a chance to rectify our mistake. Also, many offenders could be rehabilitated and become useful for ~~the~~ society since those who have not committed a serious crime do not deserve to die.

On the other hand, there are those who claim that the death penalty gives ~~the~~ society discipline. Most of those who intend to commit crimes would stop and avoid ~~it~~ them if they were aware of the punishment. Moreover, offenders who commit heinous crimes, for instance genocide, may never represent any kind of remorse which means any chances given again, they would repeat the same crimes over and over again. In addition, ~~they~~ society never welcomes them again and they will be ostracized forever.

To cut a story short, I myself am of the same opinion as the second group which means that I argue that legalized killing is necessary for our society since it plays ~~the~~ a deterrent role ~~to~~ in committing frightful crimes.