

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement? A person should never make an important decision alone. Use specific reasons and examples to support your opinions.

Nowadays, in this hectic world we have, we encounter so many problems that we cannot resolve them alone. In other words, it would be more sensible to talk with an expert in a certain field to rectify them. According to the latest facts and figures published by the Research Center of Tehran University, people who regularly consult in different matters and don't rely on their own knowledge are more probable /likely to be successful in comparisone with those who make decisions alone.

it is apparently true that no one knows everything and our minds are limited in some ways. These days the problems are so vast and unique that they which cannot be dealt with without the help of an expert, so it would be quite logical that the best answer lies is laid with the consultation with someone who is experienced enough.

Having considered how important consultation is, I am of the belief that making makes decisions alone is not wise. Take many developed countries as an example. It is quite customary for them to consult even in facing with the minor problems. In this way they could act better and be more successful. Also, sometimes the one who is in trouble cannot see different aspects of the issue, so asking for help ; makes them capable of te understanding ing better.

Taking this issue into the account, I would get the impression that in facing different problems, it would be practical to talk with people particularly someone who has enough experience in this matter.

What it all comes down to is that no one can escape the problems and no one has the ability to know all the things. Making decisions alone could lead them to even more problems.
