

In many countries schools have severe problems with student behaviour.

What do you think are the causes of this?

What solution can you suggest?

Needless to say, students' student's misbehaviors especially in schools are one of the important and problematic issues in society. The root of this can be traced to families and friends.

Firstly, on one hand, children's behaviors are the reflection of parents. It is worth knowing here that the first step of learning is imitating, so parents as those playing the most influential role in children's misbehaviors can be blamed lectured. On the other hand, friends emulate behaviors of one another regardless of ~~te~~ consequences.

Provided that a child lives in an environment with a lot of misbehaviors, they probably will be induced to mischief.

There are some measures that are already carried out in some countries and appropriate results emerged after taking into account some actions. One of them is the connection and relationship between parents and teachers. Not only can they help each other to how behave towards children, but also they can find out which behaviors are to the detriment of students. Another measure is specifically related to parents. This course of action has two aspects. Since children hate to be ignored, the first one is to /forgive/excuse/overlook/ignore/turn a blind eye to ~~omit~~ children's misbehaviors, not appalling ones, in order to punish them. Secondly, parents should bestow rewards to children for their virtuous behaviors. In this manner, pupils learn that they reap whatever they sow.

To sum up, I strongly believe that parents can rectify children's behaviors by with-rectifying their own behaviors. Moreover, they can monitor their children's friends (friends of their children) and give them some tips about how they can select good ones.