

Punctuation Tips

(Adverbs)

. In addition, / . Moreover, / . Besides, / . Furthermore, / . Also,

. Consequently, / . In consequence, / . As a result, / . Therefore, / . Thus,

. However, / . On the contrary, / . Conversely, / . In contrast, / . By contrast,

No one disagrees with imprisonment of dangerous criminals. However, our focus should be poverty.

We can learn a language easily. However, our fear of making mistakes is a big impediment.

The managers failed to reach an agreement with the union. Consequently, the strike is sure to happen

The climate was not that favorable. However, the sailors set out on their journey.

The climate was not that favorable. The sailors, however, set out on their journey.

(Conjunctions) (connect 2 sentences without needing full stop)

(time) after/before/once/as soon as/until/till/when/whenever/as long as/while/once/since

(place) where/wherever

(condition) if/unless/on condition that/provided/providing

(contrast) although/even though/though While/whereas/whilst

(reason, cause) because/since/as/now that/ inasmuch as

(manner) as / in that

After she won the medal, she presented it to MMR. /She presented it to MMR after she won the medal.

This research is important in that it confirms the link between aggression and alcohol.

(Coordinating conjunctions)

, and/ , or/, but/, so/ , yet/, for (used only in the middle of the sentence)

She loves music, but her father thinks she had better study straight science.

Environmentalists have expressed their dissatisfaction, yet the developers intend to pursue the plan.